

cooperação
alemã
DEUTSCHE ZUSAMMENARBEIT

Implemented by: giz Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale
Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH

The German Cooperation for Sustainable Development implemented by Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH is looking for:

Communication Intern (m/f) in the project Climate Change Adaptation and Biodiversity Conservation in the Atlantic Forest (Brasília, Brazil) – starting July/August 2016!

Responsibilities

As communication intern of the project Biodiversity and Climate Change in the Atlantic Forest, you are going to be part of GIZ's team in Brazil working in the sector "Protection and Sustainable Use of Tropical Forests". You will be contributing to a wide range of different activities related to the topics of "adaptation to climate change" and "biodiversity conservation", including:

- Supporting the implementation of the Project's communication strategy and plan, including strengthening of key partner institutions in the area of communication
- Supporting the team in elaborating and compiling reports, factsheets and other materials in different languages (German and English, if possible Portuguese), as well as knowledge management and public relations
- Assisting the team in developing and copy-editing of materials for communication on subject specific areas, as well as press-releases and other materials for publicity and advertising of the main activities of the Project
- Conducting research and desktop studies, preparing and organizing information for decision-making and supporting monitoring activities
- Supporting the team in organizing workshops, events and capacity development measures with regards to content and logistics, as well as other tasks related to project management

Profile

- At least Bachelor's degree (or equivalent) in communication, marketing, social media, public relations, publicity and advertising, journalism or related discipline
- Interest and knowledge in the areas of biodiversity conservation, climate change, the international commitments set within the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD) and themes related to international cooperation
- Capacity and willingness to quickly acquiring knowledge in new and complex issues
- Very good verbal and written command of German and English, at least advanced knowledge of Portuguese (Spanish language skill would be an advantage)
- Willingness to work in an international team and cultural empathy
- Reliability, flexibility and high ability to work independently and assume responsibility
- Very solid IT-skills (MS-Office and Internet)
- Experience in foreign countries and cultures (ideally in Brazil)

Please submit your application for the announced position via GIZ's online portal by clicking here! Any questions please get in touch with lukas.hach@giz.de.