

Fluent in German and English..... and Spanish?

Are you a well-organized, flexible, people person with a good sense of humour?

If you answered yes to the above questions, we may have the adventure job that you've been looking for! Our leaders come from a diverse range of backgrounds and experience, and share our passion for responsible travel. Key attributes such as high-level organisation, problem solving and people skills are essential to ensure you've got what it takes to give SC Reisen travellers the most incredible experience. Our passengers have diverse ages and interests and a multitude of different reasons for embarking on a trip. The main responsibility of this position is to help our travellers to explore their particular areas of interest and to make sure all passengers have a fun, safe time. The level of success of each trip is determined by the leader.

We are looking for Group leaders that would like to work in Mexico, Central America & Cuba.

Nationals of the region OR foreigners who have travelled or lived in Latin America and speak fluent German, English and a bit of Spanish.

What is required in order to be a Tour Leader?

Excellent People Skills: We look for people who have a good sense of group leadership and who have demonstrated these skills in past experiences.

Awareness of, and Commitment to Sustainable Tourism: We look for people that are committed to environmentally and culturally responsible tourism.

Commitment: Live and work abroad for a 12 month contract.

Resourcefulness: We need Group leaders who are able to take action to resolve problems as they arise often in times of stress. Leading can be pretty frustrating at times and we need people who are able to take charge and deal with local circumstances.

Background in basic accounting/budgeting: Experience working with budgets or developing a personal budget is an asset. Knowledge of Excel is a real bonus.

Computer literacy: Knowledge of internet/E-mail/Microsoft Word/Microsoft Excel is an increasingly important asset.

If you think you have what it takes and could handle a job that takes you to some of the most amazing places on earth, please contact us at: agencias@sprachcaffe.com

