

Internship with IRMO (Indoamerican Refugee & Migrant Organisation) in London

IRMO (Indoamerican Refugee & Migrant Organisation) is a community-led organisation based in London that offers support to Latin American migrants living in the UK.

Our projects and services focus on education, advice and case work, migration, employability and community support, for which we rely on the work of volunteers who apply their knowledge and skills to our cause.

In the past, we have had great experiences with volunteers (i.e. from the Erasmus programme) who came to London to complete an internship and we would like to know if the Institute for Latin American Studies has students that might be interested in joining our team.
